

- 98 -

ABSTRACT

An incremental material urging system comprising:

(a) a container structure having a rear end and a forward end,

5 (b) a material urging structure

(c) material urging structure activating means wherein said material urging structure is incrementally advanced from a retracted position at said rear end of said container structure, to a fully advanced position at said forward end of said container structure, where 10 said forward end is a discharge end.